The OPR for this supplement is HQ AFRC/DOTS (Lt Col James B. Smith). This supplement implements and extends the guidance of Air Force Instruction (AFI) 36-2209, 28 February 1994. The AFI is published word-for-word without editorial review. Air Force Reserve supplementary guidance is indicated by “(AFRC)” in boldface type. This supplement describes Air Force Reserve procedures to be used in conjunction with the basic instruction. Upon receipt of this integrated supplement, discard the previous integrated Air Force basic instruction. A (I) indicates revisions from the previous edition.

SUMMARY OF REVISIONS

This revision deletes AFRC guidance that is already published in the basic AFI 36-2209, and changes references from USAFR or AFRES to AFRC.

6.1.1. (Added) Within this command:

6.1.1.1. (Added) To the maximum extent, all AFRC aircrew members will attend basic and water survival training while they are in the training pipeline (that is, progression tour).

6.1.1.2. (Added) All rated officers (other than medical) who have not attended basic/water survival training according to paragraph 6.1., Table 1 shall complete this training not later than 2 years following graduation from Undergraduate Flying Training (UFT).

6.1.1.3. (Added) All enlisted aircrew members (other than medical) who have not attended basic/water survival training according to paragraph 6.1.1.1 shall complete this training not later than 2 years following placement on flying status.

6.1.1.4. (Added) Each rated AFRC officer assigned primary/additional duty as life support officer who has not completed basic and water survival training must complete this training not later than 1 year after assignment to such position.

6.1.1.5. (Added) All medical aircrew members (officer and enlisted) on flying status who have not attended survival training must complete this training not later than 2 years following assignment to aircrew duties. Personnel requiring such training must attend Course B3AZY4N0X1-001, Medical Survival Training. (See paragraph 6.3.4 of basic instruction for additional information.)

6.1.1.6. (Added) All ART life support personnel (AFSC 1T1X1) shall attend basic and water survival training. Life support personnel assigned to units equipped with helicopters shall attend course S-V84-A, Underwater Egress Training. Commander ensures personnel who have not previously completed these courses attend not later than 1 year following assignment to the life support position. Attendance of non-ART life support personnel is desirable, but not mandatory, unless performing duties as a continuation training instructor.

6.1.2. (Added) AFRC units that are within 6 months of aircraft conversion, or those that are currently involved in conversion processes, are authorized 2 calendar years from the start of aircraft conversion to complete S-V80-A and S-V86-A or S-V90-A. Aircrews unable to meet this criteria may not be reported as mission ready (CMR) for SORTS.

6.1.3. (Added) Aircrew members who have not completed basic/water survival training within the specified time cannot participate on training or operational missions as crewmembers and cannot be reported mission ready (CMR) for SORTS.

All waivers are evaluated on a case-by-case basis.

7.1.3. (Added) The Reserve training office (DPT) submits requests for attendance at survival courses as follows:

7.1.3.1. (Added) Reservists--from the unit DPMT to HQ AFRC/DPTF through the Training Management System (TMS).
